Monique Shebbeare Law Corporation

Monique Shebbeare is a wills, estates and fertility lawyer in Vancouver. Monique works primarily with middle income families on their estate planning, as well as assisting executors with obtaining probate. She also has a practice in fertility law, and has done estate planning with clients who have stored gametes and embryos, as well as those who have formed their families through assisted reproduction.

Monique grew up in Vancouver before doing her undergraduate degree in psychology at McGill and her law degree at the University of Toronto. Monique was initially called to the Ontario Bar in 2001 then to the BC Bar in 2006.
