

Dr. Peter Chan

Dr. Peter Chan is a geriatric psychiatrist and has practiced since 1996 at Vancouver General Hospital, primarily in the elder care medical units. He is a full clinical professor in the UBC Department of Psychiatry. He is recognized locally, provincially and nationally for his expertise in psychiatric conditions pertaining to seniors, and is also an academic author, lecturer and researcher. He has a special interest in capacity assessments and has been involved in assessing those who are cognitive impaired for medicolegal purposes in both the public and private sector.